He consumed 21 waffles in a contest ending here Friday night. Valentine Riddell, the runner up, consumed twenty.

Windsor challenged all comers under the usual syrup and butter rules.

"It was good to the last drop," muttered Homer Mays, 28, of Houston, as he finished his sixteenth cup of coffee, thereby setting a new long distance coffee drinking record Saturday.

Mays drank his partner, R. I. Nixon, under the table, leaving him at the fourth cup.

COUPE WRECKED IN TRIPLE CRASH

Tires, Rims and Occupants Spoiled

Collision of three cars that resulted in a demolished Ford coupe, badly battered fenders and bodies on the other two cars, and severe jolting, but slight injuries to occupants, occurred Saturday about 8:30 p.m. at the intersection of Procter street and Atlanta avenue.

Two tires on the coupe were blown out and one tire and rim torn off a front wheel in the mix-up of the three machines, police reported. Settlement between the owners was effected immediately after the mix-up, and police did not get the names of any persons in the wreck, it was stated at police headquarters.

One of the wrecked autos was turning out of Procter into Atlanta avenue, another was coming down Procter, and the third turning into Procter from the avenue, and three crashing in the intersection, witnesses said.

58th Grand Jury Makes Its Report

$150,000 STORE MAY BE BUILT

John R. Adams Said to Be Planning Structure

FULL PLANS INDEFINITE

Announced He Would Build After Recent Sale

Port Arthur's skyline will be pierced by a modern brick and steel structure to cost from $150,000 to $200,000, covering a quarter of a city block and to be five to seven stories high, to be built by John R. Adams, it became practically assured Saturday.

Announcement that he would build a business house was made by Adams shortly after the sale by himself and associates of stock in the Adams-Gorin Wholesale Grocery company to T. S. Reed Wholesale Grocery company of Beaumont a few days ago. At that time he did not discuss his plans beyond the simple announcement that he would build.

Owns Austin Frontage

The structure will be built on Austin avenue at the corner of Fifth street, owned by Adams and now occupied by half a dozen business concerns. The site is 140 feet deep by 305 feet wide.

Plans Being Laid

As to when building operations will be begun was not announced Saturday, one report having it that while plans are being made actual construction may not get underway before a year, or at least until Adams' lease on his Fifth street and Austin avenue store and ship chandlery has expired.

It is understood that the Pilots' association has been looking for a location suited for their needs and shipping men, it is said, have agreed that the top floor of the structure would be an ideal location for their headquarters.

Marshall Man Dreams Of Speaking to Father Regains His Lost Voice

MARSHALL, Texas, April 28.—Frank Wilson of Marshall, who lost his voice ten months ago through a slight stroke of paralysis, dreamed of meeting his father and talking to him.

Upon waking he discovered that he was actually able to speak again.

His wife asked him whether he enjoyed his nap, and laugh to her surprise—and his own amazement—"no," instead of shaking his head in the usual way.

Returning 102 true bills out of 146 cases brought before them for investigation during their lengthy session, the grand jury of the 58th district court adjourned last night, submitting to Judge George C. O'Brien their completed report.

Commendation Officers

High commendation is given the county and municipal authorities of Port Arthur and Beaumont for efficient and untiring service accorded them during their session, while the report of the body takes occasion to call especial attention to the diligence and co-operation of the authorities in helping them on the cases they investigated.

Those serving on the grand jury were H. A. McDonald, foreman; A. B. Miles, J. A. Goodwin, H. J. French, H. E. McBride, H. B. Funchess, H. E. Triplett, Joe A. Myers, H. A. Thompson, T. H. Hunter, Jr., and T. V. McCoy.

"The sheriff's department has been very zealous," the report asserts, "in bringing to our attention specific violations of the Dean law, and evidence to support the allegations made. Jefferson county doubtless does and should appreciate the efficient service of Sheriff Tom Garner and his deputies."

Finds Some Irregularities

Speaking of the irregularities conducted by various justices of the peace, constables and their deputies, the grand jury report asserts that "we found some have allowed irregularities to obtain in their official acts and procedures, and declare that they were called before the grand jury in a body and the statutes pertaining to (Turn to Page 2 Column 1)

Griffing Lots

BRING $80,000

100 Are Involved in Deal Closed Saturday

One of the biggest real estate deals of the past few months was consummated here Saturday by a company of Port Arthur men who took over half of the remaining lots in Griffing addition. The deal was concluded by Dr. Frank Mabry acting for the Port Arthur men and Ross Combs, acting for the Tyrrell-Combs Realty company.

The amount involved in the transaction runs slightly less than $80,000. Approximately 100 lots are involved.

"The lots will be held for a short time and then be placed on the market," said Dr. Mabry.

The lots were turned over to Dr. Mabry, who is acting as trust officer for the local group of men.

"The lots were purchased because we believe they are a good investment," said Dr. Mabry. "In fact, we felt they were the best residence 'buy' anywhere in Jefferson county."

In expending that sum of money you of course realize our faith in Port Arthur and the surrounding territory." Griffing addition is one of the prettiest of its kind in the state. It will, when built up, be the show place of all southeast Texas.

Century Plant Topped With Buds is About to Bloom Here

Tapering Stem Has Risen to Height of 15 Feet in Past Two Weeks, While Hundreds Await Phenomena

A phenomena of a lifetime will be unfolded to Port Arthurians within the next few days when a century plant at Griffing nurseries unfolds the bloom that it has been developing for the past 100 years.

Rising to a height of about 15 feet during the past two weeks, the tapering stem for the rare cluster of cream-colored flowers, topped with buds about to burst into bloom, is being carefully watched by florists at the nurseries.

The plant was brought from the lower Rio Grande valley about 15 years ago and set out in the grounds, directly in front of the main entrance to the estate on the Port Arthur-Beaumont highway. At the time of its transplanting, the century plant was about 85 years old florists estimate.

So far as can be learned, the blooming of the century plant at Griffing's will be the first ever known in this section of Texas. Even now, the tall stem for the blossoms, rising out of the center of the curling, thorny leaves is attracting the attention of passing motorists.

Miss Lois McElroy and Wm. Neill motored to Port Arthur Saturday evening.

Miss Miriam Winkle spent Saturday at Port Arthur.

Miss Jamison will present her pupils in a recital Friday night at the high school auditorium. Admission free.

The Ingversen home was the scene of an extremely nice party on Tuesday evening when Mrs. C. S. Ingversen entertained four tables of players in honor of her husband, Mr. C. S. Ingversen. Cut flowers furnished adornment in the living and dining room where the tables were placed. After several spirited games and music, the hostess served a dainty salad and ice course to the following: Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. John Kaper, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Black, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Ingversen, Miss Gertrude Conn, Lois Bishop and Angelina Kaper and Messrs. Rudolph Ingversen and McDonald.

Mrs. J. M. Carter was hostess to the Weekly Division club at her home Thursday afternoon. After many games of rook, Mrs. C. L. Freeman won high score and Mrs. John Kaper was awarded low. Mrs. Carter, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Black, served a tempting satan course to the members present: Mesdames Fred Roach, Jas. Burnfin, C. L. Freeman, A. S. Chesnut, Lloyd Burnfin, John Kaper, C. T. Ingversen, E. W. Williams, R. D. Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Black and Miss Angelina Kaper and the hostess.

Thursday evening Mrs. and Mrs. E. P. DeLong were delightful hosts at a lovely reception in honor of their daughter, Ruth, whose marriage to Mr. Arthur J. Davis occurred last week. The home was beautifully decorated with roses and trailing vines, vases of exquisite buds being placed at every vantage point. In the dining room the table held the wedding cake surrounded by a mass of greenery through which a number of streamers hung from the chandeliers to the table corners which was draped with roses. A wealth of gifts attested to the popularity of the young couple, one of the most attractive being 25-piece silver chandelier from the Humphreys Refining company, by whom Mr. Davis is employed, and a lovely walnut bed room suite, the gift of the bride's grandfather, Mr. Keewey. More than one hundred and fifty people registered in the guest book, presided over by Miss Belle Davis, sister of the bridegroom. Punch was served by Misses Kate Davis, Daisy Price, Ellen DeLong and Juanita Goodwin. Mrs. Lawrence Koelmay, Miss Masterson, Juanita Goodwin and L. Koelmay, furnished music throughout the evening. At the conclusion of the evening, delicious strawberry ice cream and Angel food cake was served. A number of guests were present from Port Arthur, Port Neches and Beaumont.

TO THE VOTERS OF PORT ARTHUR:

All citizens who feel an actual interest in the growth and welfare of the city will put the interest of the community as a whole above personal interest in a particular candidate for public office, and will exercise that degree of caution in preparing their ballot which their interests in safe and progressive "government" directs. In soliciting your vote for the office of City Commissioner, I do so with a full appreciation of the very great importance to the citizens of the city that the Commission should consist of persons who are capable of enacting municipal legislation which will vouchsafe the greatest protection and uniform safety and happiness of all of our people and will best advance and safeguard the interests of the municipality. If I am elected I shall shape my course by the people's interests and will not be influenced in my official conduct by any one element, organization, concert or combination, but will be moved alone by a spirit of uniform fairness to the people of Port Arthur. I am sensible of the great responsibilities imposed upon a City Commissioner and especially pertinent to the office of Commissioner of Public Record and Finance, (the assignment for which I am aspiring) and in the event of my election I shall endeavor to maintain that order of efficiency in the public service as will redound to my own credit and will render the best service to the people of my home city. In seeking this employment from the public I can offer no better reference as to my character and fitness for the office than my present employers, The Texas Company, in whose service and employ I have been for the past several years, and I shall be pleased for interested inquiries to be made of them along this line. I will appreciate your vote and will devote my time and best thought and energy to your service.

Gasoline Waste Cause of Present High Price Says N.M.A.

AND DUST IN THE CARB. IS CAUSE

4 Cents a Gallon Saving is Possible By Care

A sharp reminder to motor car users that they are likely to be judged guilty of some of the responsibility for increasing gasoline prices in the future is voiced by the National Motorists' association from its offices in Washington. "Sheer wastefulness," it is said, helps to create an excessive demand which ultimately enhances the price.

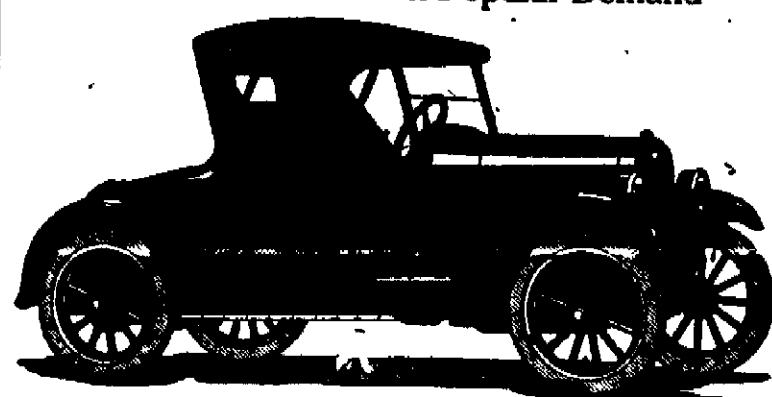

"The average car owner does not conceive of the important part his particular engine plays in conserving or wasting gasoline," continues the association's report. "He does not even appreciate the role the proper functioning of his engine plays in cutting his own fuel costs. That is why it is estimated that the wastage of gasoline annually represents an expense to motorists of $150,000,000. Every car owner could save about 1 cent per gallon, and the individual loss of gasoline through carbon choked engines and too richly adjusted carburetors should be left out of discussion until car owners sense the seriousness of the situation."

"To tell a motorist that his engine is wasting gas because it is choked with carbon does not spur him on to remedying the condition; but once he has a glimpse of the sum total of the nation's carelessness with respect to its motor car he raises the hood and looks into the situation. Carbon is not a vague something which accumulates in a motor and has to be cleaned out every spring. It is a very real efficiency-killing deposit of dirt, oil and unburned gasoline, which accumulates by degrees and which can be minimized, even neutralized, in the same way."

"It is now estimated that 90 per cent of carbon is dirt drawn in through the carburetor. Air cleaners and strainers will therefore greatly improve the efficiency of the engine; but where the car owner is not able to attach such devices, forcing each cylinder with a tablespoonful of kerosene through the net cocks, when the engine is left for the night will eliminate much of the carbon as it is deposited."

"The wastage of fuel caused by the carbon is by no means confined to its habits of hoarding to a cherry red and pre-igniting the cylinder's gases. It does its damage, mostly around the valve heads, causing them to remain slightly open when they are supposed to be closed. This reduces compression by allowing the gas to leak back into the carburetor or out the exhaust. One valve that does not close tightly or which is stuck because the owner neglects to oil the valve stem will practically cut out an entire cylinder which, in the case of a

OVERLOADING OF TIRES IS FATAL

You Only Fool Yourself, Says Hughes

Don't overload your tires even for a few minutes says Bert Hughes of Bert Hughes Tire company, whose slogan is "Yours for Service."

"When you overload your tires even for a few minutes you are only fooling yourself," says Hughes. "Often times the effect of overloading which only strains a few threads will appear months afterwards. Last week a man drove his car into our service station and called his attention to a brake in his tire through which the inner tube could be plainly seen. He remarked that it had been that way for several days, which bears out the above statement."

"The desire to get a thrill out of a car is another way to shorten the life of a tire. The strain of getting a car up to a high speed in a short time and turning corners at 20 miles or more an hour all comes on the tires as they are the parts of the car that come in direct contact with the solid earth. And when the roads are rough and the speeding car hits the irregular surface, sometimes ruts and stones, they become bruised," says Hughes.

"There are two kinds of bruises. One causes almost an immediate blow out which we call a stone bruise and is no fault of the tire. When the tire rolls over a stone a sharp dent is made in it. When it rolls over at a high speed the air pressure on the inside forces the dent back out with a sudden snap. Even if it does not break or blow out immediately, it will break a few threads."

Each cylinder engine, means a waste of about 20 per cent of its power and its fuel."

Small Bills Result When Auto Troubles Remedied at Start

"If the driver would only take the same care of his car as he does of his other high-priced articles, as pianos, etc.," says Johnnie Rizer of Rizer's Garage, 812 Procter. "If only the car owner would bring his car in at the first warning, as a little squeak, a knock, a grinding, and other things that are familiar to every driver. Then the work would be simplified, and the expense and trouble very little."

NOT SO MANY TIRES ARE USED PER YEAR

A recent tire survey brings out the fact that the demand for tires in 1922 averaged 2.17 tires per car as compared with 4.85 in 1916. The decreased requirements are explained by the fact that cord tires have almost completely supplanted fabrics on all cars other than the smaller ones. Consequently, motorists today are getting a great deal more service from tires than they did five or six years ago, according to Miller-tire experts.

KING OF THE ROAD

THE GENERAL

Goes a long way to make friends.

The General has more genuine friends than any other tire. And there is a reason. When a tire gives from fifteen to twenty thousand miles and in many cases more, it is certain to be popular with motorists.

The Port Arthur Tire and Sporting Goods Co. is proud to offer this sterling tire to its patrons. We know that you'll be satisfied and that is our aim.

If you haven't tried the General do so now or ask your friends about it. They all use the General. One sale means another friend for the General.

We allow you more for your old tires. We carry the most complete line of tires in the city.

FOLLOWING DAD'S TIRE TRACKS

If this youngster inherits his dad's traits he ought to be a speedy thorn in the side of future traffic cops. He's the son of Eddie Pullen, famous auto racer, tuning up for his first track tryout.

BAD BRAKES CAUSE MANY ACCIDENTS

Results of a recent investigation in the borough of Brooklyn show that 80 per cent of all auto accidents are due to bad brakes. Several cities have sent safety experts to ascertain the methods being employed in New York to curb this evil. At least a dozen other municipalities have inaugurated brake inspection campaigns which have resulted in a decrease in the number of accidents.

ORDER TRUCKMEN TO REPAIR BROKEN ROAD

WARSAW, Ind., April 28.—Owners of a number of heavily laden trucks which have damaged public highways in Kosciusko county, will be asked to bear the expense of the necessary repairs and failing to do so will be prosecuted, according to the board of county commissioners.

PROPER BRAKING IN AN EMERGENCY

When the brakes refuse to hold when stopping the car, switch off the ignition, engage lower gears and the clutch, using the engine as a brake.

A PARKING POINTER FOR NOVICE DRIVERS

A much better job can be made of parking a car of long wheelbase if, before backing, the driver will swing part way into his space then steer out again. This puts the rear wheels nearer the curb.

Cars Stick in Molasses; City's Traffic Tied Up

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 28.—Two thousand gallons of molasses tied up traffic in a busy street here. Two street cars stuck in it. Several automobiles followed. The driver of the molasses tank truck which caused the trouble said some miscreant opened the valve and let the sweet and sticky stuff run out into the street.

Jim E. Connors is an automobile man. He will have good streets. Vote for him.—adv.

BUICKS SHIPPED BY TRAIN LOADS

100 Cars Leave Works in Three Months

More than 100 solid trainloads of automobiles were shipped during the first quarter of this year from the plants of the Buick Motor Company in Flint, Michigan, and Detroit. These trains averaged 50 freight cars each, some of which were ordinary flat cars. This does not include cars that were driven away from the factory daily, which is from 400 to 500, to near points.

Shipping automobiles in trainload lots has several advantages. The railway does business in a wholesale way and with quick dispatch due to less switching in terminals and to continuous train service. The shipper and dealer are benefited by quick deliveries.

A well-known railroad official is quoted by George C. Conn, Buick director of traffic, as saying: "The handling of these Buick shipments clearly demonstrates what can be done with open cars properly loaded and protected. It is doubtful whether we

PITCH PENNY A BIG VICE IN 1826

But On Other Hand Tax Burden Was Easy

COVINGTON, Ky., April 28.—"Blue Sunday" did not exasperate the early settlers of Covington, according to a record book recently unearthed in the city hall here. The book, which dates back to 1826, a year after the Kentucky legislature created the town, contains the minutes of the first meeting of the board of trustees.

"Penny pitching" and marble playing were two "sports" which were not permitted to disturb the tranquillity of the Sabbath. The book does not give any information as to whether the laws of the town were obeyed, but it is assumed that they were, for the book gave no information concerning any breaches of the law by any of the citizens.

Taxes in 1830 amounted a little over made deliveries of so large a number of automobiles without exceptions being taken."

Twice as many said "Willard"

Last summer 12237 car owners selected at random were asked, "What battery will you buy next?" Practically twice as many said "Willard" as said any other battery.

BLOWOUTS

The ideal section of Lincoln Highway in Indiana will cost $302,000 a mile.

Dist in the air drawn in, through the carburetor causes considerable carbon trouble.

Indianapolis 500-mile race in 1923 will be for cars with engine displacement of not more than 122 cubic inches.

Wind resistance causes a loss of 2 horsepower, when the car is going 25 miles an hour.

Breaker points sometimes become badly worn or pitted, and should be smoothed off and adjusted.

In adjusting brakes, both hands should be made to act with equal force.

You Own a Used Car!

All automobiles are used cars!

Every automobile has been slightly used. It is impossible to build an automobile, load it in freight cars, ship it, unload it, take it to a warehouse or a show room and deliver it to a buyer, without at some time or other using it. This use does not depreciate the vehicle and does it no harm. Cars that are properly handled in driveways from the factory are better many buyers believe, because of that use.

But in addition to that, the very hour that an automobile is delivered to a purchaser, it has depreciated a definite amount and has become a USED CAR.

This depreciation plus the maintenance cost of the first year, plus the purchase price makes up the cost of your motor vehicle transportation unit the first year. Each year thereafter, add depreciation plus maintenance cost. At the end of your ownership of that car, you can definitely determine the entire cost of transportation that you bought. Transportation cannot increase in value as it is used and worn away. Only a scarcity of transportation can increase the value of it. And motor vehicle transportation is becoming more plentiful every day and every year.

There is a place where you can buy the best of transportation. From the best dealers: from ride through a New England-like country in a "Trag" automobile. It was a bulky machine—made in this country.

The locomotive which pulled the train I rode in from Tetschen, on the Czechoslovak frontier to Prague, the capital, was built in the Bohemian-Moravian works at Prague. It was a big, stout, tough.

Harvesters, tractors, all sorts of "heavy machinery," railroad rails, bridge works, great cast mirrors and mirror-cutting—these are some of the things Czechoslovaks do well and in quantity.

Did you know there are 48 furniture factories employing 15,000 workmen in Czechoslovakia and that the United States, next to Italy, is the largest importer of the furniture? That the Krizik electric-light works at Bodenbach is one of the biggest in Europe? That the Ringhoffer works, Smichov, Prague, makes trains-of-luxury for Egypt? That the Prague and Pilsen have airplane fac-torise? That probably those jaxzing wind instruments you shaimy to or shiver over were made in Kraslice or Hradec Kralove in the Ore mount tains?

That while but 23 per cent of Great Britain's land is arable, 45 per cent of Czechoslovakia's is? That 23 per cent is covered with forests and that this country has better forest laws than the United States, trees not being cut until from 80 to 120 years? That there are splendid game laws? And wonderful schools? And banks?

So you can see that, being stretched out like a shoestring with frontiers in proportion and a lot of ugly neighbors wishing her bad luck, this new republic, born at Versailles, is hoping hard that nothing happens to start something in nervous, Jumpy Europe. She has nothing to gain by war and everything to lose.

O'BRIEN MAY 18TH FOR A HEARING

Among the proposals made by the city of Port Arthur, it was authoritatively stated, was that the city would at once collect a cash deposit equal to one and a half times the consumer's average monthly bill if he would put the $2.25 rate into effect, as ordered in the city's ordinance, effective April 1.

Warning of Injunction
Warning that the city would seek to enjoin the gas company from carrying out its intention of putting a $2.70 rate into effect was issued by the city on April 4, when it was brought to his attention that the gas company had mailed out announcements of the $2.70 rate going into effect April 1, despite the fact that the city's ordinance, which fixed the rate at $2.25, also went into effect April 1.

SPEED COPS TOO ZEALOUS, FINDS

their duties were read to them fully. Special stress is laid on the statement that "some of the officers have been over-zealous in the enforcement of traffic regulations, especially those relating to auto speeding; the public must be protected against the menace of speeding; many serious and fatal accidents have resulted from reckless driving."

Overzealous Speed Cops
"At the same time, good citizens desirous of complying with the traffic regulations should not be arbitrarily and officiously subjected to the undue zeal of speed cops."

Calling attention to the fact that Port Arthur is greatly in need of a county prison, and intimating that the growth of Port Arthur necessitates that this particular matter be expedited, the report declares that "Port Arthur has reached the stage of a leading Texas city, and needs a county jail."

The report follows in full:

Beaumont, Texas, April 28, 1923.

Hon. George C. O'Brien,

Judge of 58th Judicial of Texas:

We, your grand jury, selected and empaneled by your honor for the March term, A. D. 1923, on the fifth day of March, A. D. 1923, for the purpose of examining into conditions and violations of law in Jefferson County, beg leave to make the following report:

We have been in session the larger portion of the time since the day we were empaneled, and have investigated a great number of cases of violations and alleged violations of the law, and have used every effort and means at our command to get at the truth of every complaint that has

Out of the many cases investigated, we have returned 102 true bills and 41 no bills, and have referred 11 cases to the next grand jury for investigation because of lack of time to finish our investigation of them satisfactorily.

We realize that some of the matters to which you indirectly called our attention should be investigated, but the time at our disposal made it inadvisable for us to undertake their consideration. To render justice to the public and to the interested individuals, in relation to these matters, we deem it necessary to make a complete examination of voluminous official records and proceedings. This task we could not undertake because of lack of time.

In Jefferson county, as well as in the entire state and nation, the dominant type of law violations is that which relates to our state and national prohibition statutes.

The sheriff's department has been very zealous in bringing to our attention specific violations of the Dean law, and concrete evidence to support allegations made. Jefferson county should, and doubtless does, appreciate the efficient service of Sheriff Tom Garner and his deputies. We likewise commend the municipal officers of Port Arthur and Beaumont for timely and effective service constantly rendered for our assistance.

in our investigations in relation to alleged law violations. All were tireless, vigilant, and active in the detection of the violations of the Dean law, and in the apprehension of the violators of the law. While they have been aggressive in the detection of these law violations, they have been none the less active in the apprehension of the violators of other laws.

District Attorney Marvin Searlock was in constant attendance in all our sessions that were devoted to the investigation of alleged law violations, and his counsel has been invaluable to us in our deliberations. He impartially advised us as to the competency and the relevancy of testimony elicited in the examination of witnesses. With such counsel we were in a position to avoid the error of indicting persons whose conviction was doubtful, and enabled us to return true bills against those only who, in our judgment, are guilty beyond reasonable doubt.

We have found that some of Jefferson county's justices of the peace, and some of the constables and their deputies, have allowed irregularities to obtain in their official acts and proceedings. Some of these irregularities were in consequence of faulty precedents, and some were in consequence of a lack of familiarity with the statutes relating to their official duties and prerogatives. In view of these facts, all the justices of the peace and constables of the county were asked to come before the grand jury in conference relation; and the statutes relating to them and their duties and prerogatives were fully explained to them by our members who are experienced in such matters, and by our district attorney. We feel that good will result from this conference.

Some of the officers who were in said conference had been over-zealous in the enforcement of traffic regulations—especially those relating to "auto speeding." The public must be protected against the menace of speeding. Many fatal and injury accidents have resulted from reckless driving. This menace must be reduced to the minimum in the interest of the public. At the same time, good citizens, desirous of complying with traffic regulations, should not be arbitrarily and officiously subjected to the undue zeal of speed cops and justices. Every semblance of extortion and every effort to browbeat or force an unwarranted confession of guilt, should be condemned by superior officers and courts.

We found many instances of the violation of the Texas primary election law. There were many instances of persons of foreign birth who voted in the last democratic primary without being fully naturalized citizens of the United States. Some of these persons had their declaration papers only. Others had not officially declared their intention to become citizens. We are of the opinion that some of these persons voted without intent to violate the Texas suffrage statute, as they had formerly legally voted under the provisions of the old law now repealed. Some may have been indirectly coerced by persons who could indirectly control their votes. After public warning, we are inclined to the belief that our election laws will be obeyed. They must be obeyed.

Church Head

The Right Rev. A. C. Garrett, Dallas, Texas, will succeed the late Bishop Tuttle as presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States.

Port Arthur's Need of County Jail
Port Arthur has reached the stage of a leading Texas city, holding twelfth place in size according to the census of 1920. Doubtless the city now holds eleventh place.

As a city grown in size, in business enterprises, and in industrial importance, its law enforcement agencies must increase in like ratio.

Law violations in Port Arthur have naturally and unavoidably become numerous, and consequently arrests of law violators are many. Jefferson county has only one room in Port Arthur for the incarceration of county prisoners. This cannot accommodate the prisoners taken in the not infrequent constable raids. Prisoners of every grade have undeniable right to reasonable and humane accommodations and treatment while in custody of state officers. This cannot now be accorded them in Port Arthur, and the jail at the county seat is so distanced from the point of arrest that prisoners cannot be transferred immediately after arrest.

In the light of our civilization, to meet this condition, Jefferson county must build an adequate jail in Port Arthur. We recommend that such jail be erected at Port Arthur as soon as possible. We also recommend that this jail, in addition to usual jail facilities, have a conveniently arranged court room in which justices of the peace may hold court.

In conclusion, we wish to thank you and the officers of your court, the city officers of Beaumont and Port Arthur, the sheriff and his deputies, and all of the other officers, for the assistance and courtesy shown us during the time we have been in session, and we now respectfully ask your honor for our final discharge.

Respectfully submitted,
H. A. McDONALD,
Foreman of the Grand Jury.

THE FACTS IN THE CASE

"Certainly you are mistaken. Your motor has lost its compression, knocked on the hills. Worn cylinders are sure to cause excessive use of gas and oil. When the gas is compressed in the cylinder ready for the spark it will leak by the piston and rings into the crank case, spoiling the oil. Old motors can be brought up to their original efficiency by regrounding and fitting with new pistons and rings. We are fully equipped and can handle your job right.

College Woman Tires of Gathering Antique Furniture and Goes Into Jersey Cattle Business

MISS ELEANOR FITZGIBBONS AND SYBIL'S SEA PRINCE, JUNIOR CHAMPION, BRED ON HER FARM.

BY MARIAN HALE
LAUREL, Md., April 28.—Five years ago Miss Eleanor Fitzgibbon was pursuing her hobby of collecting antique furniture.

Today this young college woman is raising some of the most blue-blooded, high-priced Jersey cattle in this country.

The story of Miss Fitzgibbon's remarkable success in a line of which she knew nothing only a few years ago, displays the advantages of college training and—well, spunk, pure spunk.

It was spunk that led Miss Fitzgibbon into this business. For Jerseys, Guernseys, Shorthorns—all were alike to her. A cow was a cow, whatever its pedigree, she thought. Now she knows and she's profiting on that knowledge.

College Did It
"I just went at things as a college woman would," said Miss Fitzgibbon, when I asked her how she accounted for her unusual success. "Going into the cattle business was an accident," she explained. "But I do believe it is the most fascinating work in the world. I had to find a large home to hold the antique furniture which has always been my fad. I found just such a place as I wanted down here. I took the farm because it went with the house."

"Then it occurred to me the land might be put to some good use, so I did as any college woman would. I asked the University of Maryland to send out experts to look it over and see what I had better raise on it. They told me line and livestock would be needed to make the soil fit to raise anything. So I wrote to the various cattle associations and asked them to send me their arguments for the various kinds of cattle."

Starts With Prize
"A year after that I had stocked my farm with Jerseys and had bought a fourth interest in Sybil's Gamboze, a blooded animal that brought the record price of $65,000 in 1919."

Today Miss Fitzgibbon has 125 prize cattle on her farm. She expects to make semi-annual trips to the island of Jersey to pick out animals to sell here. She probably knows more about the Jersey cow than any other woman in this country—and I doubt if many men are well informed as she is.

CLAIMS PAPERS CRIME REMEDY

Expert Doubts Courts and Jail as Deterrents

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 28.—Crime, in the opinion of Dr. Frank O'Brien as expressed in an address before the Woman's Club here, is a much misused term and one that should not be employed as a general designation.

Juvenile delinquency and adult crime are practically the same thing manifested at different ages, and the important thing is to get behind the outward act and study the criminal and the circumstances that induced him to commit the act, Dr. O'Brien believes.

He emphasized the importance of studying the child in school and helping him to adjust himself to his environment, so that the tendency toward anti-social acts might be minimized.

Describing the path of the criminal as a broad and well-built highway, Dr. O'Brien said the offender received his primary schooling while very young; a high school course in the juvenile court college training in jail and finally post-graduate work in the penitentiary.

Punishment, the speaker declared, was only effective in so far as it constituted a deterrent and courts and institutions generally are not deterrent. To substantiate this contention it was pointed out that many grown offenders were possessed of a long record of early delinquency.

Dr. O'Brien advised those interested in social work to go slowly, to study conditions thoroughly and to educate the public. Sound, healthy newspaper publicity was recommended by the speaker as the best means of attaining public education on the subject.

PARENTS SEEK ARREST OF MISSING GROOM

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 28.—The failure of John Dickson of Wyoming to appear at the appointed time for his marriage to Miss Anna Rhikus of Extra, prompted the parents of the disappointed bride to have a warrant sworn out for the missing bridegroom.

An anti-knock gasoline has been perfected which will get some knucks if it costs much.

YOU AND I

WIVES

Little old man, said to be a Civil War veteran, is held by police in an eastern city. Twenty women so far have claimed him as husband, and police expect the list to reach 30.

If you think the Einstein theory is difficult to understand, just try to figure out how an old man could have so many wives.

The age was not on his side in winning, but it is now. It makes a woman madder to be fooled by a young chap than an old fellow, because vanity is involved. However, regardless of age, imagine having 20 to 30 women after you, with no way to escape!

HOMELIEST

Mary Ann Bevan, billed as "the homeliest woman in the world," is back on the road again with Ringling-Barnum & Bailey circus.

Her face wouldn't stop a clock, but no beauty lotions have been applied for its use for advertising purposes. But when Mrs. Bevan (as kindly a soul as exists) talks of her four children back in England, observers say that her face mellows and her eyes glow with a heavenly beauty and softness. There is nothing quite as beautiful as the look in any mother's eyes when she thinks of her children. Real beauty is spiritual, not material.

ANTIQUATED

From Japan comes a photograph of a farmer irrigating his rice fields. Water is pumped by a paddlewheel, the farmer making the wheel revolve by climbing the paddles like you climb stairs. He holds to a pole as he monotonously climbs the primitive treadmill.

From this you turn to the American farmer, pumping water by turning a valve in a pipe or starting a gasoline engine. Maybe Kipling was wrong, but if cast ever does most west it'll have to bridge a wide gap.

MONTE CARLO

Professional gamblers fear that Monte Carlo will be closed by its new ruler, Prince Louis, as he threatened when he inherited it.

Later word is that this gambling den, most notorious in the world, will be turned into a hospital.

Nothing is so evil but what it has possibilities for good. As (trial of individuals, criminals) as of situations or Monte Carlo.

NORTHWARD

Another big scale migration of southern negro farmers to northern industrial centers is reported by field agents of the Department of Agriculture. In Georgia alone, 32,000 have hit the northern trail, nearly a tenth of the state's negro farmers, in less than a year.

When hard times come again, they'll be singing "Divio." Eventually, the negro population will apparently be distributed about equally all over the United States. They're invading the north rapidly.

MATING

All men don't marry wives—some are married by them, comments Prof. Linnet R. Groves of Boston University. It's an old line of patter with a new twist.

Whether men really select and court their wives, or whether they are kidnapped into thinking they do (after the girls select them), is an old subject of controversy. What difference does it make, if both are happy afterward? Selection on the average is 50-50.

VICTORY MAKERS

After making the rounds of the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, and Utah a correspondent of the New York World "has failed to find any pronounced sentiment in favor of adherence to either the League of Nations or the World Court." He considers this a knockout for the Wilson League of Nations and the Harding International Courts. Why a knockout? Orthodox republicans always vote the ticket straight. They gulp down yellow dog platforms and then praise the diet. There are ten millions of independent voters in the United States. They are the men and women who are going to make a president in 1924. Which ever way their column swings victory will be found.

ARE THEY?

Doctor Henry Van Dyke, former minister to the Netherlands, says that the United States imports ten times more crude opium than it legitimately used in this country. There are 1,500,000 drug addicts in the United States. India is the chief source of poppy products.

Doctor Van Dyke says that England is moving to co-operate with other countries in curtailing the crude opium production, but that drastic measures cannot be invoked and the solution of the problem in India may proceed slowly.

For seventy years the poppy growers of India sold their opium to the Chinese and they made China the drug ridden nation of the world. Then the monopoly was broken.

Now the poppy growers of India are shipping their opium poison to all the nations of the earth. India is governed by Great Britain.

Why shouldn't the lawmakers of Great Britain destroy the opium curse? Why should the solution of the problem in India proceed slowly? Why should 1,500,000 unfortunate in the United States be the victims of the opium curse of India?

Are the Caucasian countries civilized? Are they Christianized?

HOW?

"Property tax payers should not get frightened; the legislature can raise his tax rate," declares Superintendent of Instruction S. N. M. Marrs. This is consolation for Jones. He isn't going to be touched. How will it be possible to pluck the feathers from the live goose without causing the goose to squawk? Asking for information; that's all!

A special grand jury indicted city and county officials in Corpus Christi and Nueces county over the protest of the district attorney who said there would be no evidence to convict, and the judge who applauded the work of the grand jury made a regular campaign speech. As it is up to the district attorney to prosecute and as he has said the evidence did not justify indictment, what is the judge going to do about it?

President Obregon has determined that commercial vices shall be wiped out in No Man's Land marking the Mexican side of the border of the United States in which congregate vicious elements of both nations. From Brownsville to the Pacific Ocean all forms of vice and those who are responsible for their existence are to be eliminated by the Mexican authorities. This applies to saloons, to smugglers, to bootleggers, to gamblers, to sellers of drugs, and to all under-world demisens. President Obregon is man of his word. If petroleum would not black his program, Mexico would be one of the fast growing nations.

PUBLICITY IS THE THING

Nations are not engaged in bartering their trade advantages for larger fellowships. We do not do it ourselves and we need not ask what we do not give.—President Harding.

COMMON LABOR

Now comes 175,000 rail employees asking for a return to wages in effect prior to July, 1921. Are they common laborers? If so, they are entitled to an advance. Judge E. H. Gary, the steel king, said common laborers were entitled to an advance and the steel kings granted the advance without a murmur. According to Chicago newspapers, a common laborer is in greater demand in that city and the northwest than a skilled workman, but perhaps it isn't true.

BEST PRESS IN THE WORLD

"Our drift today is toward pure democracy and no pure democracy ever long survived," declared President Harding in his New York speech. The president said something else and in saying it, he uttered a splendid truth. "In our America, we have the freest and best press in the world. In its power of today only the press can sound the warning and reason to that conviction which will enable to play our full part in the work of preservation." "No pure democracy ever long survived." This is true for the reason that no pure democracy ever existed. If so, when and where?

Commerce is the very life of every people's existence and a nation's commercial opportunities are valued little less than the security of its significance.—President Harding.

New York is said to be a heathen city but the heathens are going to build a twenty-two story hospital for the care of poverty-stricken and friendless sick. There is more in the milk of human kindness in the world today than ever before, regardless of what indigo blue pessimists may say.

TROUBLE AHEAD

There are 50,000 union coal miners in Wales. There are 5,000 un-union coal miners. Now the 50,000 are on strike with the avowed object of forcing the 5,000 to join the miners federation. They are fast travelers over there. Labor has 146 members of the House of Commons and now that the white collar brigade has decided to affiliate with the labor unionists for political purposes the combination is a dangerous one for the bedied earls and the rotund lords of yesteryear. There are millions of under dogs in the British Isles. Now that they have the ballot they are making trouble for their erstwhile lordly rulers.

SAMUEL ON THE ROAD

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has thrown down the gauntlet to President Warren G. Harding, speaking of the open shop campaign. "Let the issue come, if it is to come. American labor will meet it on any field political, or otherwise." Any politician with sufficient sense to be a county judge would not invite an issue of this nature in a presidential campaign. Another thing President Harding is a member of the International Typographical Union and before he became an office holder he was a clotheshop printer.

MARY MILES MINTER FEATURE

A cosmopolitan variety of settings and action makes Drums of Fate, with Mary Miles Minter, which opens today at the Pearce theatre, a picture of unusually attractive and popular fates. Much of its appeal lies in the African jungle scenes, these are thrillingly and picturesquely set forth with the aid of a large cast of black men who take part in some exciting combats. The production, while elaborate, does not overshadow the story and efforts for the star one of the most pretentious vehicles she has ever had.

The comedy, Bull Montana, in "Glad Days" should make a pleasing addition to the bill.

WOMAN LEARNS HUSBAND'S JOB

Ready to 'Double' for Her Mate in Mines

SEATTLE, Wash., April 28. — What is the best insurance for a woman?

"Learn your husband's job," Mrs. Elsie Wendt of Issaquah, Wash., says. "Do as I have done, and if anything should happen, step in and take his place."

Mrs. Wendt is probably the only woman miner in the northwest. Frequently she has gone down the Issaquah mine and has "knocked out" her car of coal with the best of them.

Mrs. Wendt has her own outfit, a pair of knickers, pick, shovel and lamp. She says if the occasion demands she will apply for a job as a regular contract miner.

"She'll get it, too," declared N. D. Moore, vice president of the Pacific Coast Coal company. "I have every respect in the world for a woman who will learn her husband's work and who makes herself ready to take his place should anything happen."

Mrs. Wendt comes from a family of miners. She was born in Butte, Mont., where her father worked for many years in the Stewart mine. In her factory she recalls all of the disastrous accidents of that famous copper mining camp.

"I know mines and mining," she said. "My husband and I know that every time he goes below the ground that he may never come up. That is why I have learned his trade."

Mr. and Mrs. Wendt have a comfortable home at Issaquah.

CONFESSES HE PUSHED MAN OVER TRESTLE

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., April 28.

Charles Johnson, 17, confessed yesterday that he alone was responsible for the death of C. C. Dalrymple, 22, of Crisman, Ill., whose body was found under a high trestle on the Louisville & Nashville railroad north of here on April 13. Johnson said he had driven from Crisman with Dalrymple in the latter's car. He says he gave Dalrymple a shove to scare him, but Dalrymple lost his balance and plunged over and was killed. Then Johnson said he took about $125 and an automatic revolver from the body and drove to his home near Crofton.

TIRE SIZES SHOULD ALL BE UNIFORM

Never use a fabric tire on one side of the car and a cord tire on the opposite wheel. Because of the difference in sizes, there is a constant wear on the differential.

Anne Pennington, Values Her Knees at $250,000

What Do You Value Most?

What part of your body do you value most?

Anne Pennington thinks so much of her knees that she has insured them for $250,000. Do you value any part of your body that highly?

Are your fingers, for instance, worth $10,000 each? That's the value Underwinski, the famous pianist-politician, has placed on his digits. He's insured them for a total of $100,000 against injury.

Other high lights in the world of song and story have done likewise. Mary Pickford, for instance, is insured for $1,000,000. It is said, a large part of that is due not so much to any part of her body as to her personality.

But Charlie Chaplin's feet may be said to be the cause for his $1,000,000 policy. Babe Ruth's hands and eyes may be behind the $225,000 policy covering him for accident and life. And Doug Fairbanks' agile limbs are credited with the greater part of the $1,000,000 policy that covers him.

Based on these figures, how big insurance would you take out for the most valued part of your body?

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, April 28.—My face is my fortune," sang the pretty milkmaid.

"My knees are mine," sings pretty Anne Pennington.

That's the reason she just had them insured for $250,000. Artists have agreed that this petite dancer has the most perfect pair of knees out of captivity, rounded and dimpled as those of a child and covered with a pink skin as soft and satiny as advertisements say one's face could be.

Need I tell you that Anne wears her stockings rolled?

"Of course I do," she assured me. "And I advise every other girl to do the same. It's infinitely more comfortable and more healthful than the old way."

Aids to Beauty
"Flat shoes and rolled stockings have done more to make walking, hiking and dancing popular than any two other fads that we have ever known. Consequently they have made women lovelier."

"Women couldn't enjoy exercise formerly because they wore high heels and tight clothing. I thoroughly believe that all fatigue and ungracefulness can be traced to violations of the laws of health and comfort. Whatever restricts a woman's freedom restricts her capacity for development."

"And of course I believe in going without corsets. The only reason women ever were slaves to them was because they were too lazy to keep their figures trim by diet and exercise."

Jumps Rope

Dancing and walking are two methods by which Anne firmly believes one must court beauty. Her favorite exercise, however, is jumping rope.

In her dressing room at the tower, between the acts of "Jack and Jill," Anne takes out her rope and skips about with all the zest and joy of a seven-year-old—and she really doesn't look much older.

"I don't advise this for anyone but myself, or for those who really enjoy it," she said. "Some people say it hurts their hearts. I'm sure it doesn't hurt mine. I believe it keeps my weight right and my circulation going."

"And," she whispered confidentially, "I'm absolutely sure it's the best thing in the world for the knees."

SAYS BIG NOSES WIN SUCCESSES

Professor Points to Lincoln, Napoleon, Caesar

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28. — All that is necessary to determine the brain power of an associate is to examine the size of his or her nose, according to the findings of a rather timid University of California professor, who declines to give out his name, but who admits that he is an authority on the subject.

The professor's investigation, he says, has been on historically prominent men and not college students, because no college student can be said to have achieved success in any great work.

"Through personal investigation," says the professor, "I have arrived at the conclusion that the man or woman possessing the largest nose will win success in the world.

"We have only to look into history to discover that Lincoln, Napoleon and Caesar, some of the world's greatest men, were favored with abnormally large nasal organs."

Things could be worse. Suppose eating was unlawful and you had to buy food from bootleggers?

The object of the Port Arthur Building & Loan Association is to furnish a safe and profitable investment to savers; to loan their accumulative funds to home builders and home owners upon plans practicable for wage earners as well as for the man of means, and to promote and provide means for home ownership.

This association has been organized by a group of men whose interests are centralized in Port Arthur. They realize that by accumulating home funds to loan to home people it would be a vital benefit to their city.

Thousands of investors throughout the United States are saving their money in these institutions in order that it may be loaned to people to build homes.

Our stock subscription book will remain open for a few days, and we invite prospective investors to call us for an appointment.

Murff Bledsoe Cops Silver Trophy and Ribbon In Houston

Local Cinder Path Champ Only Port Arthurian To Place In Rice Institute Invitation Track And Field Tournament.

Houston, Texas, April 28.—Murff Bledsoe, track speed demon from the coast, and Port Arthur's staunch defender, carried off a silver medal and a blue ribbon as his portion of the Rice Institute invitation track and field meet when the curtain rang down on the tournament here today.

Bledsoe, fleet of foot and lithe of body, running against a speedy field in the 220-yard dash, spurred across the white line just behind Cockrell of Alvin—too late to win first honors, but too far ahead of other opponents to create any argument as to second-place title—and fell into the arms of his colleagues, a victor.

The Port Arthur boy also placed in the 100-yard dash, running the distance in 10.01, while the honors went to Thomas of Electra, who made it in 10-flat. Although Port Arthur entered track men in other events, the Gulf coast city failed to place them, and Bledsoe copped the sole points gained by the visitors.

Allen Academy of Bryan, Texas, captured first honors in field meet, piling up a total of 27 points.

Central High school of Houston was a close second with 24.2 points. As Electra's lone representative, Lawton Thomas scored 15 points with three first places, winning the 100-yard dash, the 44-yard dash and 880-yard run.

Summaries.
Pole vault—Comstock, El Campo, and Goelin, Allen Academy, tied for first place; Applying, El Campo, and Putney, Victoria, tied for third. Distance: 10 feet 6 inches.

12-pound shot put—Satterwhite, Allen Academy, first; Putney, Victoria, second; Cortez, Allen, third; Moore, Rosenberg, and Brown, Dayton, tied for fourth. Distance: 46 feet 1.2 inches.

High jump—Shepherd, Huntsville, first; Hoffman and Smiley of Houston Central, Bond of Harrisburg, Wheeler of El Campo, Merchant of Alvin, Raber of Hallettsville, tied for second. Distance: 5 feet 9.2 inches.

Discus throw—Satterwhite, Allen Academy, first; Cole, Brownsville, second; Moore, Rosenberg, third; Kirksey, Allen Academy, fourth. Distance: 113 feet 7.5 inches.

Broad jump—Yarborough, Terrell, first; Shepherd, Huntsville, second; Lewis, St. Thomas college, third; Hoffman, Houston Central, fourth. Distance: 21 feet 5.2 inches.

Bolton Wanders Wins English Grid Trophy in Memorable Clash

LONDON, April 28.—A thousand persons were injured and treated in emergency stations when 200,000, the greatest crowd in history, fought their way to the new Wembley Park stadium to witness the professional football cup final when Bolton Wanders won over Westham this afternoon 2 to 0.

Many women were crushed, one probably fatally, as thousands of late arrivals rushed the barriers and broke through police cordons, swarming over the playing field.

With the stands filled to their capacity, 127,000, two hours before the game, officials sent frantic appeals to omnibuses, tramway and railway companies to divert additional thousands who came from all directions toward Wembley Park. In many instances, companies with the suggestion resulted in minor riots.

Speed, Says Champion of Cinder Path, Is Big Essential

By JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT
NEW YORK, April 28.—"Speed," said Charlie Paddock, fastest runner in the world, "is something you're not to be born to."

Apparently I hadn't been born to it, for I was puffing fearfully as I tagged along behind trying to interview him in action. It was in Central Park, where Charlie was taking a run preparatory to sailing for France where he will compete in the University of Paris games.

A running interview is the hardest thing I have tackled yet. He had one of those abbreviated athletic suits. I was more heavily encumbered. I shot a question at his back.

"Don't you think I might have more speed if I cut out potatoes?"

Charlie hopped over a lilac bush instead of running around it.

"There's a lot more to it than anybody imagines," he said, settling down into a comfortable (for him) loping. "Remember, Kelly, the Olympic champion?"

I didn't, but I said I did.

"Well, Kelly and I one day were trying to jump from the sidewalk up a flight of steps about five feet high. We couldn't make the top step. All at once we saw Doug Fairbanks watching us. That was incentive, and we both made the jump."

"Why that got to do with speed?" I inquired.

"Oh, speed," he said running in a circle till I caught up again. "You mean running—or people?"

"Clothes," I said, unmasking a sitch in my side.

"Well, some women are pretty speedy in clothes," he said. "But it's a woman's duty to make herself beautiful."

"Why?" I gurgled.

"Because nature teaches it," he replied, as we dashed past the zoo. "Just look in there—the females all ways the more beautiful."

Charlie didn't slack up enough to give me a chance to look.

"Smoking's bad," he said changing his pace and the subject, "especially for women. Too speedy, you know."

"Say, how old are you?" I demanded, between gusty breaths.

"Well, I've been running for 10 years," was the only answer he'd give me. "And now I must do a sprint. Good-bye."

I felt as if I'd been running twice as long, so I sat down to rest, watching him shoot away through the scenery.

Baseball Quiz

1.—Is it possible to make a substitution for a base runner, and will he have the original player remain in the game?

2.—In case of rain or muddy field, is the sole judge as to whether the game should be started?

3.—In case a game is stopped, the umpire, because of rain, is any time limit as to when the game can be resumed?

4.—What happens when the batter strikes at an illegally pitched ball?

5.—Is it necessary that the team batting last make an appeal for the ruling of a balk?

6.—Only by consent of the captain of the other team.

7.—The manager or captain of the home team is the sole judge as to the fitness of the field for starting a play.

8.—The time limit formerly was 30 minutes. Now under the new ruling the umpire can wait as long as he sees fit.

9.—It counts for a strike or a batter may follow.

10.—A balk rests entirely with judgment of the umpire. There is no necessity or reason for an appeal, although the team at bat may raise the claim.

And Pencil Spoils Many Good Golfers, Says Brady

By MIKE BRADY

Those who are ambitious of being skilled golfers I know of no advice than to forget, for a moment, the rain and pencil, and to play the game as it is, rather than the habit of playing the safe rather than the correct one. It is doubtful if his ability to a hazard he will go around it. It is that gets him nowhere. It is that he has a few shots in an occasional round, but it tends to confine him to a cautious, stilted golf, with limited possibilities.

The real route to progress is to his scores, take some lessons, practice, practice, practice. It is really keen for golf he can discover that there is a saving amount of satisfaction in playing, studying and analyzing the game and experimenting on it with all the different clubs.

Try new thing learned is out and a further incentive, Chick and Walter J. Travis are two of the great examples of men who feared to practice.

Chronic Diseases

My success in the treatment of Chronic Diseases is due to the fact that I never attempt treatment unless I can locate the cause and remove it, thereby practically eliminating all doubt and guess work. For this reason I cure almost every case I treat, therefore, if you are suffering with a deep-seated chronic trouble it will pay you to call and get my opinion and advice. If curable I will treat you reasonably, if not I will tell you.

Is Captain of Two Teams

CHARLES T. BLACK

KANSAS CITY, April 28.—Charles T. Black of Abilene, Ill., next year will have the distinction of being captain in the same season of the University of Kansas football and basketball teams.

Black, elected football captain at the close of the 1922 season, recently was chosen head of the basketball squad, following the university's most successful season in that branch of sport. It was undefeated by teams of the Missouri Valley Conference, and came through undefeated champion. Black was a guard.

Penn State Beats Great Oxford Team In Two-Mile Run

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 28.—Pudding on through a curtain of cold rain that sent chills up the spine and rivulets of water down the backs of 40,000 spectators, four running champions from Pennsylvania State college defeated the great Oxford team in the 2-mile international relay championship race at the Pennsylvania relay carnival here this afternoon.

The game Britishers were conquered in which they forced the victorious Pennsylvania State combination to a new world's record of 7:48 4-5.

Behind the Oxford team bringing up the rear were Georgetown, Boston College and Pennsylvania.

Today's defeat gave America the edge in the three international events which featured the carnival, the Oxford team having won the spring medley event yesterday and lost the two-mile race.

Pennsylvania State's sensational performance was one of the few features of an afternoon that was ruined by rain which started falling just as the big events were about to get under way.

Alfred Lecorney, the intercollegiate spring champion, captured another feature when he equalled the record for 9 4-5 seconds in winning one of the heats of the 100-yard dash trials. Lecorney took the final in 10 flat.

Kinks in the Links

Playing on a very heavy course, a player on reaching the green finds that his ball is almost entirely covered with mud, making it utterly impossible for the player to putt with any degree of accuracy. Must the player play a ball in such condition or has he the right to lift the ball, marking the spot, clean it, and then replace it without penalty?

While mud on the ball invariably renders it unfit for play, especially on the putting green, the rules do not recognize the fact. Unless some special ruling has been made, a player in stroke competition could be disqualified and in match play would lose the hole. When matches are played under heavy conditions, a special ruling is usually agreed upon, which gives the player the right to lift and clean the ball without penalty, which is only fair.

New World Record Set For Quarter in Drake Field Meet

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 28.—Capturing three relays out of five and two field events out of six, University of Illinois athletes established their supremacy in the face of hot competition at the Drake relays here this afternoon. The boys from the Sucker state not only swept the field, but smashed the world record for the quarter mile relay; the American intercollegiate record for the half mile; the Drake relay record for javelin throw and the Drake record for the pole vault.

Former relay records here went to pieces as fair weather and a fast field put university, college and high school athletes on their mettle. A crowd of 10,000 witnessed the classmate relays.

ALONG COMES SUMMER
How Shall She Be Followed?

AH—the all-important question of the hour! Inkings about new turns and twists of fabrics, new shading in colors, new style details in general—everything which marks the mode as authentically new—means satisfaction to the truly feminine person. She must know. Here are the facts. Summer merchandise arriving daily, gay, thoroughly charming, with Paris and great originality in its make-up, is here for her approval. Visit these early displays if you would know what's what.

Frocks of Printed Silks
Still Hold Fashion Sway

$16.95

And deservedly so for each new shipment of Frocks brings new developments in prints. They are less obvious and daring in design and therefore more intriguing. Equally attractive to the woman who is choosing a Frock suitable to the wide range of informal affairs should prove these of plain silks and crepes effectively trimmed with pleated panels, tiers, and rippling flounces.

Frocks of Varying Types All
Becoming to The Larger
Figure

Summertime fabrics, the new ones so lovely and soft this year, are so cleverly and charmingly adaptable to the youthfully slender lines of the mode. And fashioned into frocks for the larger figure their lovely simplicity is but enhanced by their clever detail innovations. Tub frocks and silk frocks are equally becoming in their stylings, and there are many models to choose from, all in the larger sizes.

$19.50 to $39.50

Frocks That Do Justice To Notable Sporting Occasions

They differ from the strictly utilitarian sports frock because they are designed to grace affairs which are quite as much dress occasions as anything else. They are Frocks you will wear when you appear as spectator rather than participant. Printed roushmaras, silk eponges, and plaited crepe de Chines in white, grey and beige provide an interesting choice.

The Cape Has Many Advantages
as a Warm Weather Wrap

Without being heavy it provides just warmth enough to take off the chill of May days. And because of its loose wrapiness there's no danger of it muzzling the light crushable frocks worn beneath it. Particularly attractive are the Capes with batwing sleeves, those that are topped with a soft collar of fox and those both of silk crepe and rich pile fabrics with side sash ties.

$19.50 $35.00 to $59.50

NEW SPORT SKIRTS
The Wool Skirt Is Spring's
Ideal for Sport
